

Resources for Disability Insurance Advisors

Professional Education and Networking

Your Insurance Carrier

The first place to start when looking for disability insurance education - carriers you already work with, with excellent tools and resources available for advisors to increase their expertise.

The International DI Society

Dedicated to growing the disability insurance industry through education, awareness, promotion of high ethical conduct and increasing the knowledge base of agents, producers, and carriers.

The American College of Financial Services

Since 1927, The American College has helped more than 200,000 financial services professionals accelerate their careers. They offer several disability insurance focused courses.

LOMA Professional Development Courses

LOMA is a professional association for the insurance and financial services industries. They offer a variety of courses and designations.

AHIP Disability Income Associate

By completing this designation, you'll fully understand employer-sponsored disability programs ranging from sick leave benefits to long-term disability income plans. You will also learn how disability income insurance fits into retirement, estate, and long-term care planning.

Disability Insurance Awareness Month

The Council for Disability Awareness Advisor Toolkit

Each year, the Council for Disability Awareness makes available a special, free toolkit for advisors packed with the most up to date disability insurance content. For 2017, this will include resources to support the Council's "Insure Yourself" campaign.

Life Happens DIAM Page

Life Happens founded Disability Insurance Awareness Month, and provides many tools and resources to support the campaign. Life Happens is a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping Americans take personal financial responsibility through the ownership of life insurance and related products, including disability and long-term care insurance.

National Disability Insurance Days sponsored by The Plus Group

Throughout May, Disability Insurance Day events will be held in more than fifteen cities across the U.S. These events are a great opportunity for advisors to network and hear from recognized experts in the field.
