

The economic situation has prompted many employees to review their financial needs:

Many employees do not understand that if their income stops as a result of illness or injury, funding of retirement programs like 401(k)s also stops.

Source: The 7th Annual MetLife Study of Employee Benefit Trends